Mr. Clay Introduces Three Important Bills.

Hon. S. G. Clay, of Bourbon, introduced Tuesday two bills in the Legislature tending to promote cleanliness in elections. One to make it a felony for an officer of an election to record the vote of any other than a qualified voter or to refuse to record the vote of a qualified voter; and the other bill making it a felony to purchase or promise money or anything of value for a registration certificate. These three bills went to the Suffrage and Elections Committee.

Another bill by Mr. Clay provides for increase of the salary of the Commissioner of Agriculture from $2,500 to $4,000 a year and the allowance for his department from $13,000 to $14,000 a year.

DEATHS.

—Mrs. Adam A. Breckinridge, formerly Miss Rebecca Willmott, of Bourbon, died at her home at Plattsburg, Mo., Saturday, the sad news reaching here Tuesday.

Mrs. Breckinridge was a sister of Mr. Frank Willmott, of Hutchison, and Mr. Robert Willmott, of Centerville, and is survived by three sons, John C. Breckinridge, Willmott Breckinridge and Jefferson Davis Breckinridge.

Her husband, Judge Adam A. Breckinridge, was born in Bourbon in 1837, and after his marriage to Miss Willmott, moved to Clinton county, Mo., in 1874, where he became prominent as a farmer, live stock breeder and Judge of the county court. Judge Breckinridge frequently visited the Blue Grass as the guest of relatives, and the former to attend Confederate reunions, he having been a member of Company A, Ninth Kentucky Cavalry, commanded by the late Col. W. C. P. Ardery, S. S. Ardery and Lafa Ardery.

Custody of Rachel McClintock Still Unsettled.

The question of the removal of Rachel McClintock from the home and custody of her mother, Maggie Rogers McClintock, in Lexington, to the home and custody of her father, James D. McClintock, of Paris, came up before Judge Parker in Fayette Circuit Court Wednesday, but no change at the present will be made.

Dr. Joe Bryan, who was appointed by Judge Parker several days ago, to make an examination of the physical condition of the child as regards its health, made his report to the Court Wednesday at 10:30 o'clock. The witness stated that the child now had bronchitis, which was probably contracted while in attendance at court a few days ago. The witness also stated that the child had whooping cough last year followed by another malady of a less serious nature during the summer. Dr. Bryan stated that in his opinion the removal of the child from a brick house in Lexington to a comfortable frame house in Paris and changing the custody from its mother and present nurses to the custody of the father and his sisters would not be deleterious to the health of the child.

Dr. Bryan stated that the convalescence from the bronchial trouble was about completed and stated that a change of the environment of the child could be made with safety within a month or six weeks time. Dr. Bryan was instructed to make another examination of the child and report to the court in two weeks from Wednesday.

The child is about two years old. Pending the final decision of a divorce suit between Mr. McClintock and Mrs. McClintock, Judge Parker, before the Christmas holidays, entered an order granting the parents equal and alternate custody of the child. Either parent to have custody of the child one month at a time. Mrs. McClintock who has had custody of the child since the suit was filed for divorce last August, being directed to deliver the child to the court's chambers January 5 to be transferred to the father. The mother sought to have the order rescinded but the court has not done so. Mrs. McClintock is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Waller Marshall on South Limestone street, Lexington. Colonel John R. Allen represented Mr. McClintock and Maury Kemper represented Mrs. McClintock Wednesday.

Back to the Farm.

Daniel G. Reid, one of New York's multi millionaires, who began on $3 a week salary, and who is now one of the big men in the United States steel corporation and a power in many other big industrial enterprises, discussing the question which is now agitating the wage earners of this country—the advance cost of living and its remedy—said:

"The trouble with this country is that a lot more people in this country ought to go back to real work—they ought to go to farming.

"Now the farmer is the man we have to go back to every time. He is the fellow who is responsible for the real wealth of the country. He gets $1.05 for wheat; $8 for a hog—if it's a good hog—$20 a ton for hay; barley and corn in proportion, and eggs—you know what eggs are worth just now?

"Well, ten or eleven years ago the farmers in the Middle West were all carrying mortgages on their property.
Today the same men are riding around the country in automobiles. They have paid off the mortgages and have money in the bank.

"More men ought to be farmers.
More men ought to go back to the soil
—back to real work.

"Take these little towns in the Middle West. You will find they have fifteen or twenty churches to support, when four or five would do every bit as well, and, in plenty of cases, you will find that these preachers would make out better as farmers.

"The same thing is true in most of the professions. It's a sort of family pride to train a boy to be a lawyer or a preacher, when he ought to be trained to work.

"There is still plenty of land and every foot of it should be made to bear its crop.

"Out in my country—in Indiana—
here the farmers are thickly settled, have noticed that there is always a strip of land near the fences which is not even plowed. That's a mistake.

"It would be an object lesson to some of our farmers if they would take a trip to Europe and see the way they make every inch of land bear its crop.

"The farmer is prosperous. This is one class which has been bettered by the advance of recent years. The clerks used to get $50 to $60 a month.
Sometimes one of them would reach $1,000 a year. These salaries have not been raised. They are about where they were ten or fifteen years ago."

A New Comet.

Without warning there appeared on the western horizon just before dusk, Saturday evening, a spectacle such as none at Douglas, Ariz., had ever witnessed. It was a magnificent comet, or, having all the appearances of one,
with corona and a great tail forming a picture witnesses never will forget.

The word was quickly passed about and soon the whole county was out viewing the beautiful spectacle.

At first it was supposed that it was Halley's comet, but word from Prof.
Douglass, astronomer of the State University at Tucson, is that the stranger is distinct from Halley's.
The same word also came from Flagstaff University in Northern Arizona Douglas is about 4,000 feet above the sea and with a wonderfully clear atmosphere.

Two Sets of Officers.

Germantown, Mason county, is in a predicament as to just how the town will secure officials for the ensuing year. It seems that at the last election no tickets were placed on the ballot.
It was intended that when the time came that the citizens would get together and request the outgoing County Judge to name the same. When the time came the Republicans sent in a list of names, from which the selections were made, without suspicion.
When the trick was discovered another list was made out and the case taken before the newly installed County Judge, who made another selection.
Thus the town now has two sets of officials, and the matter promises to get in the courts.

Our County Poet.

"The rose that smells the sweetest is the first to fade; the boy who runs the swiftest is the one to soonest fade.
The brightest of the evenings has the gloomiest dawns; the man who buys the biggest yards must mow the biggest lawn. The apple that is largest has the fattest worm of all; the fellow who gets on in life is always full of gall. The soup that looks the cleanest is the first to show the flies;
the fellow who would sell the goods must pay to advertise. The hen that lays the biggest egg will be the first to set; and the things we all hanker for are the last of all we get. The simplest thing is always best, and yet we pass it by to monkey with the tina-l things that catch and fool the eye."

Premonition Came True.

"I guess I shall come back in a coffin, was the remark of Arthur Goebel to A. C. Gilligan, president of the Cincinnati and Suburban Delivery Company, as he left the Burnet House seven weeks ago, to accompany his brother, Justus, on a trip to Arizona, where his friends expected him to regain his failing health. Gilligan, who is an intimate friend of Goebel, endeavored to cheer him, but he again remarked as he left the hotel "Goodbye. Next time you see me it will be in a coffin."

Are Passing Away.

The gold dollar in the United States has practically gone out of circulation and now it is rumored that the silver dollar is likely to follow it at least to some extent into its innocuous desue-tude. The reason for this seems to be simply that the government has ceased its practice of paying the expressage on shipments of silver dollars. Banks, therefore, prefer the currency, which is so much lighter, and in many section of the country in greater demand at their windows.

Due to Extravagant Women.

High prices of foods are due as much to the extravagance of American women who have the spending of the wages of American workmen as to the avarice of monopolies, according to E.
P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, who is spending the winter at Santa Barbara, Cal.

"General increases of wages and the rapid increase of money in circulation are among the causes of high prices," said Mr. Ripley, "but extravagance is the paramount cause. Most housewives will pay three to four times as much for food done up in fancy packages as they will for the same foods without the frills."

First Bill to Pass.

The first bill to pass either legislative body this session was Senator C.
M. Thomas' indeterminate sentence bill, which provides that except in capital punishment cases, the circuit judge shall fix the length of a convicted man's sentence. It passed the Senate 27 to 5, and will now go to the House.

Liver Trouble Remedy Free

Any intelligent person can be his own doctor in the ordinary case of liver trouble, for the symptoms cannot be mistaken. If the white of the eye becomes yellowish, if the skin becomes sallow, if pimples and blotches appear, if the bowels do not move, if you have sick headache, if you are bilious, you may be sure that your liver is torpid or inactive.

The quickest and surest remedy yet found for the cure of liver trouble or any of its symptoms is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound.
This wonderful remedy is not only laxative, but a tonic as well. It will start the flow of gastric juice, thereby soon enabling the liver to do its work naturally. A bottle of this great liver remedy can be bought of any druggist for 50 cents or $1, and in many cases a single bottle has cured a chronic case.

For example, John W. Lee, 619 S. Pennsylvania ave., Indianapolis, Ind., had a stubborn and very long-standing case of liver trouble, with pimples, blotches, jaundice, etc., and it cured him. Mrs. B.
Finchum, Jackson, Ky., says the same of it. Thousands of families keep it in the house against just such an emergency, as you can never tell when some member of the family will need a good laxative.

In order to have you or any other sufferer from the liver make a test of Dr.
Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin without personal expense, Dr. Caldwell will send you a free test bottle if you will send your name and address. The sample will show you how pleasant it is to take, how gently it works. It will start you on the cure of your trouble and convince you that you have found a cure. That is the object of the sample, and the doctor urges you to send it today.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service.

Only Practicing.
A gambler belonging to the royal artillery was constantly checked for carelessness when on sentry in not paying proper compliments to his superior officers. One day, however, he intended to do his duty and commenced in this manner:
A young subaltern was passing his post. The sentry abruptly halted, shouldered and gave the "present."
The young officer was well pleased, but nevertheless remarked:
"Sentry, I'm not entitled to this compliment."
"I know you are not," replied the sentry. "but I thought you were good enough to practice on."—London Tatler.

Mistakes in Use of Words.
If use can make authority in the employment of words it is high time that certain etymologically misused phrases of our English tongue should be adopted into the family of orthodoxy. The word "necessity" is habitually used as the equivalent of "necessary," instead of being its direct opposite. A man says: "I do not care for the luxuries of life if I have the necessities," when probably he has the "necessaries" in calamitous abundance. Quite as common a blunder is the confusion between the words "expect" and "suspect." A man says: "There is a knock at the door. I expect that is the tax collector." He should say, "I have been expecting the tax collector and suspect that is he."—Boston Transcript.

England in the Sixteenth Century.
In the "Northumberland Household Book," published in 1512, it was stated that a thousand pounds was the sum annually expended for the food of members of the noble family concerned and that of their retainers. The amount maintained 100 persons, and wheat then cost 5s. 8d. per quarter.
The household rose at 6 in the morning. My lord and my lady had set on the table for breakfast at 7 o'clock in the morning a quart of beer, a quart of wine, two pieces of salt fish, half a dozen red herrings, four white ones and a dish of sprats. They dined at 10, supped at 4 in the afternoon, the gates were all shut at 9, and no further ingress or egress permitted.

Teaching the Young Idea.
"Freddy, I understand that you sold your electric top to the Jones boy."
"Yes, pa."
"And the top was broken."
"Yes, sir."
"How much did you ask for it?"
"Fifty cents."
"And the top was absolutely worthless?"
"Yes, sir."
"Do you think any one will respect you if you do tricks like that?"
"I dunno."
"Suppose I had a watch without any works and I sold it to a man for $100.
Would you have any respect for me?"
"Huh! I'd have less respect for the feller who bought the watch!"—Brooklyn Life.

Boomerang Skill.
Imagine hurling a bent stick away from you with all your strength and having it return to the very spot where you are standing. That is what a skilled boomerang thrower can do.
More than this, he may throw the stick so that it will actually fall far behind him although hurled directly in front. The skill of the little brown bushmen, of which we have read so much, is not exaggerated in the least, for the boomerang wielded by an expert is a thing of magic. It will soar through the air like a bird—now high up, now just skimming the surface of the ground, turning in circles, finally falling just where it has been aimed to fall.—St. Nicholas.

Definite Location.
Every visitor at the capitol at Harrisburg, Pa., who gets as far as the registration room is expected to write his name in a big book, together with his birthplace and present residence, says the Troy Times. Not long ago, when a crowd of excursionists visited the grounds and buildings, a stout girl started to register.

She paused, pen poised in air, and called out to an elderly lady comfortably seated in a big chair, "Mon, vere vas I borned at?"
"At you want to know dat for?"
"Dis man wants to put it in der big book."
"Ach," answered the mother, "you know vell enough—in der old stone house."

Miles and Knots.
The United States naval hydrographic office publishes the following information regarding the nautical mile and the statute mile: In the United States the sea or nautical mile or knot, used for the measurement of distances in ocean navigation, has a length of 6,080.27 feet; in France, Germany and Austria the nautical or sea mile has a length of 6,076.23 feet; in England the miralty knot, is 6,080 feet. The geo-of the terrestrial spheroid, is 6,087.5

cipally in measurements on land, is Wanted It White.

Booker T. Washington on a tour of New England formed a habit of eating Washington pie. Washington pie is a two layer cake with a custard filling and covered with white icing. It is served in pie shaped pieces. Stopping at a country hotel, Mr. Washington called for this delicacy. The waiter brought him something that resembled it, but the icing was chocolate instead of white. Mr. Washington looked it over, then turned to the waiter and said: "You've made a mistake. I wanted George, not Booker."—Exchange.

No Cheap Resorts Near Paris.
It is a remarkable thing, but in the near neighborhood of Paris there are but very few places where one can go and spend a cheap holiday, and take one's family. For one thing, milk is always difficult to get in country places; it is all sent to the nearest town or the ground is cultivated. Pasture land is rare in France, and milk is dear. The same with the fruit and vegetables—they all go away to the towns. Apropos of this, there is a butcher in Barblon who enjoys a unique position. He is the only one within five or six miles, and if you grumble at him, he says, "The tramway leaves in two hours; see if you can get better in the next town—or try the forest, if my meat doesn't please you!"

Russell Sage's Great Luck.
When Norcross blew himself up in Russell Sage's office, Jay Gould jumped into a carriage with a gentleman, who told this to the New York Press, and rushed to Mr. Sage's residence to congratulate him on his lucky escape from death. Uncle Russell met the carriage at the curb and, as Mr. Gould shook his hand and spoke of his good fortune, Mr. Sage coolly remarked: "Yes, I was pretty lucky; I had on these old clothes instead of my new suit." The clothes were a sight to be imagined.

The Day of Petty Tyranny.
Early methodist preachers had reason to deplore the power of the almighty landlord. Charles Wesley himself suffered. For he was summoned and fined £10 ($50) and heavy costs —not for firing ricks or uprooting hedges, but for walking across a field to address an audience. Here is the record: "Goter versus Wesley; damages, £10; costs taxed, £9 16s 8d.
July 29th, 1739. Received of Mr. Wesley, 19 pounds, 16 shillings and eight pence for damages and costs in their cause.—William Gaston, attorney for the plaintiff."

Peary Receives Gould Medal.

"Experience and determination were the chief forces which led to success in my search for North Pole." Commander Robert E. Peary thus summarized his Arctic travels when presented by the Geographical Society of Chicago with its Helen Culver Gould medal for heroism and distinguished service in exploration. Commander Peary gave a graphic description of how with seven men, 7 sledges and 133 dogs he made his "final dash for the Pole." "There, at least," he said, "I planted the stars and stripes together with a brief record of my discovery. I hope the day will not be far distant when the flag will also be landed at the South Pole."

A Doomed City.

The snowstorm has ceased, and the weather is moderating, but the Seine is still rising and Paris, France, like a doomed city, is holding its breath in terror. Half the city is in darkness. In the gloom galloping orderlies are bearing instructions which can no longer be sent by telephone. The army of police, firemen and soldiers is working with might and main to save the city. Every minute brings greater dangers. New areas are being inundated, quays are collapsing, yawning chasms appear in the streets. The water of the Seine has invaded the entire labyrinth of underground Paris. It threatens ruin and destruction everywhere.

What new disaster will come to the water logged city before the Seine begins to fall no one can predict. Already the damage is officially estimated at $200,000,000 and every hour adds millions more. The catastrophe promises to exceed the limits of a national disaster and become international. The death toll is also growing at a frightful rate, and when the epidemic which now appears inevitable breaks out, it will run into thousands. Already scarlet fever has appeared among the refugees at Ivry.

Three Noted Cases Settled.

The Court of Appeals said the final word in three of the most important cases which have been before it in a long while, when it overruled petitions yesterday. The three was as follows:
For rehearing in the case of the Burley Tobacco Society against J. E. Gaitskill, etc.
Reach Hargis against the Commonwealth.
J. H. Parrish against the Commonwealth.

In the first case, the court ousted the receivers appointed in Clark county for the tobacco organization. Beach Hargis' life imprisonment sentence for murdering his father, Judge James Hargis, in Breathitt county, was affirmed and he will now be taken to the penitentiary, as will James H. Parrish, who was given a five-year sentence for wrecking the Owensboro Savings Bank and Trust Company.

The Chocolate Eating Nations.

A Frenchman who has visited this country recently expressed amazement at the great amount of chocolate consumed by us. He had thought the Parisians, of all people on the face of the earth, excelled in the eating of chocolate sweets, but here he found the custom of coating things with chocolate so prevalent that he said the people of his city had something in the line to learn from us. He did not know perhaps that while we take our chocolate lightly and for its own sake quite as much as French people do, we also approve of it in our diet for the nutritious qualities it possesses.

The building was about consumed when the fire department arrived upon the scene. It was one of several times in past six months that the fire wagon was out exercising beyond the hearing of the fire bell. It does seem that some kind of a rule should be fixed by the city daddies in regard to the distance from the engine house the fire horses should be taken out for exercise. "Much Ado About Nothing."

Arthur Smith, colored, was arrested Wednesday by Chief of Police Elgin upon a charge of breach of the peace, he having used abusive and profane language upon the street. Judge Harmon Stitt was the attorney for Smith and asked for a jury to try his client. Judge January then continued the case until yesterday morning to give Chief Elgin time to summon a jury. The following jurors were selected to try the case: Forrest Thomas, Tom Morris, W. P. Hume, Wm. McKimsey, Pat Shea, Geo. Honey.
After the evidence was heard and Judge January had instructed the jury, arguments were made by Judge Stitt for the defendant and City Attorney McMillan for the city. Judge January limited the speakers to five minutes, yet it was plenty of time for both to warm up and make telling speeches. While Judge Stitt's plea for his boy client was very strong and effective to an outsider, it did not work on the hard-hearted jurymen, who brought in a verdict finding Smith guilty and fixing a fine of $5 and costs. The trial reminded one of "Much Ado About Nothing."

Marie Dressler Coming.

Manager R. S. Porter, of the Paris Grand, received a letter yesterday from the Shuberts, saying they would send to Paris on the 10 of February, Marie Dressler, the comic opera queen, in her latest hit, "Tillie's Nightmare," provided he would give them a guarantee that the people of Paris would patronize it liberally. Mr. Porter telegraphed in reply that the people of Paris were hungry for a comic opera, and that an attraction like Marie Dressler would surely pack the theatre to its utmost capacity. There is no doubt but that the people of Paris will appreciate the securing of this attraction enough to give it a most liberal patronage.

Public Sale

Of 35 Fresh, Young, Pure Bred Tennessee Jersey Cows, at Flanagan's Stable, Paris, Ky., Wednesday, February 2, 1910.

These cows have all come fresh in the last fifteen days except three. Nearly all the calves are heifers. For quantity and quality of milk they give, we have never offered any better than they are. We can safely say this lot of cows is the highest testing lot in butter fat and give more milk than any lot we have sold. Many of the cows closed the past year's record clearing from $100 to $125 clear of expense of feeding. We have sold in the past fifteen months about 1,500 cows in Central Kentucky, which is proof that the class of cows we select are certainly giving satisfaction. For udders, teats and gentleness they cannot be surpassed. Veterinary certificates furnished with each cow sold. The cows are now at Flanagan's stable, and we will take pleasure in showing them to any one who calls. Any purchaser or purchasers buying as many as five head at this sale will have them delivered to the adjoining county line free of cost. WM. FARIS.

What's the Use?

Marjorie is a day pupil at a select school in the West Lake district. Her mother disapproved of her drinking from the same cup that the other little girls drank from, so she bought her an aluminum collapsing cup for her very own. The next day Marjorie came running home and, with a kiss, exclaimed: "Oh, mother, all the other little girls at school like me specially much, and we just have the most fun with my collapsing cup! They all stand in a line taking turns drinking with it!"—Housekeeper.

Amplified Protected.

Lord Alvanley was always ready with a joke. Once travelling with Berkeley Craven in a post chaise and four they were upset. Naturally very indignant at the catastrophe, Berkeley Craven determined to give the first postboy a "taste of his quality," but finding him an old man simply remarked, "Your age protects you."

Nothing Omitted.

"The late Calvin Wells," said a Philadelphia, "was at a social gathering in Pittsburgh at the time of the Boer war. A British visitor praised the valor of the British troops. Inasmuch as the Boers were having everything their own way at that time, this made us all smile."

"Well, the Briton began to praise one of General Buller's retreats."

"Buller," he said, "was splendid. He retired without losing a man or a flag or a gun."

"Yes," said Mr. Wells, "or a minute."

West Point Graduates.

It will doubtless surprise most Americans to learn that out of the small total of 4,121 graduates during the first century of the existence of the Military academy, from 1802 to 1902, 2,731 entered civil life at some period of their career.—National Magazine.

Japan's Toothache Altars.

"Japan is dotted with shrines," said a traveler. "One that I examined closely resembled a little house about three feet wide and as many high, with a peaked roof and its front wall taken out. It stood in a shaded part of a park. Attached to bamboo rods across the front were many slips of paper on which sufferers from toothache had written their prayers and promises to do acts of charity and kindness if the pain which brought them there disappeared. We were told that at least one toothache altar might be found in any Japanese town."

The Mole.

The most courageous of all living things is, by common consent of naturalists, the mole. Seemingly without any sense of fear whatever, the mole will fight anything that crosses its path. It never raises the white flag. Neither giving nor asking quarter, it tears away at its adversary until it kills it or is itself killed. The mole's appetite is in keeping with its courage, and it thinks nothing of eating its own weight. In appetite the spider is a close second to the mole, but when it comes to fighting the mole carries the palm.

Marriage Superstitions.

Marriage is surrounded with superstitions, many of which apply only to the marriage ceremony. The wedding ring is made plain and thick only for the reason that its thickness and plainness secure it against breakage, for to break it is the very worst of luck for both bride and groom. White is the best color to get married in, but a widow may marry in any color save yellow. Should a bride drop one of her gloves on her wedding day, she must exercise great care in getting in and out of her carriage, and a false step is an ill omen which brings misfortune.

Comes High.

Bronx—That's a handsome umbrella you've got there, old man.

Lenox—Yes, isn't it?

Bronx—About what does it cost to carry an umbrella like that?

Lenox—Eternal vigilance.—Circle Magazine.

A Debtor's Stratagem.

"Yes," said the business man, "I have given up trying to collect that little bill from Bilkins. You see, he is a pretty big fellow, and he used to throw my collectors out every time they called."

"Then why didn't you employ a woman collector? He couldn't do that to a woman."

"That's what I thought, so I got one and sent her round, but she never came back."

"Why not?"

"He married her!"—London Tit-Bits.

What She Would Like.

"Willie," said Mr. Simpkins, "I want to give your sister some nice little present. Do you know of anything she would like?"

"Do I?" returned Willie, with a strong emphasis on the "do." "I guess I do."

"What if it, Willie?" asked Simpkins, slipping him a quarter.

"Well, I heard her tell mother this morning that she wanted a new box of face powder, a bottle of hair restorer, some new back switches, and—"

But Mr. Simpkins had made a hurried exit.—Lippincott's.

SURELY SAVED THEIR LIVES

"Old Pomp" There When His Marse Charlie and Marse William Fought Duel.

There was nothing old Pomp enjoyed more than telling stories of the importance of his position in the days "befo' de wah," when he was a conspicuous figure on a southern plantation of the best sort. "I brung up Marse Charlie an' Marse William," he often said, solemnly. "Deir own family 'lowed I saved bofe deir lives once, besides all de res' I done fo' 'em."

"Twar jes' like dis: Marse Charlie an' Marse William, dey bofe tuk de nos' 'grejus fancy to a young lady dat come a-visiting de house; an' somebody had fill deir foolish halds all up wid talk about duels; an' dey jes' promulgated to hab one, an' find out which ob 'em was to hab de young lady."

"Marse Charlie he was seventeen, short an' fiery, and Marse William he was sixteen, slim an' cool; but dey was bofe sot an' 'terminated on de duel."

"Course dey didn't tell me 'bout it, but I 'spected it, same as I always did. 'Kase I looked after dem boys fo' deir paw an' ma, when dere was comp'ny."

"So I watched out, an' I follered, an' I crep' up to where dey was beginning to take p'sition fo' de duel, an' an' I jes' broke it up."

"How did you do it, Pomp?" each listener is sure to ask.

"How did I do it, chile? Why, I jes' emptied a pail o' water right on Marse Charlie's hald, an' I tuk an' spanked Marse William—dat's how."—Youth's Companion.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Endanger Life When a Paris Citizen Shows You
the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headache, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Paris testimony:

A. Talbott, Main street., Paris, Ky., says: "I praise Doan's Kidney Pills highly in return for the benefit I received from their use. The public statement I gave in favor of this remedy in 1903 was correct in every particular and holds good today. I have been free from kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wilson's Drug Store cured me and that is the reason why I again recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Hargis Wants Rehearing.

A petition for a rehearing in the Beach Hargis case has been filed with the Court of Appeals, so it was stated Tuesday by parties from Jackson. The ground for the petition, which was filed several days ago, according to a report is the dissenting opinion of two of the judges of the higher court who did not concur in refusing the prisoner a new trial.

Young Hargis was given a life sentence for the murder of his father, Judge James Hargis, upon his final trial at Irvine several months ago. The sentence was affirmed by the Court of Appeals, and the motion for a new trial, rejected. Since then the prisoner has been in jail at Irvine, and this petition for a rehearing is a final effort to save the patricide from the penitentiary walls.

Should the petition for a rehearing be granted, it is said that a strong effort will be made to secure the parole of young Hargis on condition that he leave the State of Kentucky and never return. His mother, Mrs. Louellen Hargis, has disposed of most of her property, and is said to be willing to go with her boy into exile, if she can secure his release under the parole act.

Petition for Walsh's Pardon.

A petition to President Taft for the release of John R. Walsh, the Chicago banker confined in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., was circulated in Bedford, Ind. Bankers merchants and laboring men readily signed the petition and it is predicted the before the plea for Walsh's release is presented to the President it will bear several thousand names.

More Power to 'Em.

The extended power given umpires by the adoption of a rule by the rules committee of the National League at Pittsburgh Tuesday night is an inspiration of President T. J. Lynch. This is the rule empowering the umpires to clear the bench of substitutes of any team who express their disapproval of the umpire's decisions and indulge in rowdiness in general. "There has been much rowdiness from the bench," Secretary Heydler said last night, "and these are the men President Lynch is after. Umpires Klem and Johnstone were two of the president's advisers in this matter, they having been sufferers from the bench during the last playing season. Up to last night there was no rule to cover this, but now rowdy players will be reprimanded and for second offense fined $10, and for the third offense they will have to leave the playing grounds."

Just who will compose the National League's umpire staff next season, is not known at the present time, as no official announcement has been made. However, it is certain that both Klem and Johnstone will be two of the eight indicator holders. There will also be two substitutes who may be called upon to do duty whenever their services are needed.

The Leather Bottle Inn.

On the Dover road at Northfleet, just where the old road, down which David Copperfield trudged on his weary pilgrimage to Dover, breaks away on its temporary parting from what is now the main road, is an old inn named the Leather Bottle. Over the door hangs a veritable leather bottle. The uninitiated Dickensian is momentarily deceived into the belief that here is the Leather Bottle of Pickwick fame, and is disgusted when he discovers that this is still four miles farther on. Nevertheless, this is one of the few "real Dickens inns" still remaining. Dickens, when on his long country tramps, often turned in there for refreshment, and the chair he usually occupied is still to be seen—priceless in the eyes of the host.—London Chronicle.

Starting a Rubber Plant.

Rubber plants are usually started by a method known as mossing. A cut is made in a young branch and a wedge put in it to keep the surfaces apart. A bunch of sphagnum moss is then fastened around the stem over the cut, the moss being kept wet. As soon as the young roots appear on the outside of the moss the young branch is cut off and potted up.

Ficus elastica, the rubber plant of our houses, must produce seed in its home, tropical Asia, but it does not attain a size sufficient under cultivation in greenhouses to do so often.—St. Nicholas.

Hetty Cuts it Out, Poor Thing.

Mrs. Hetty Green, of New York, who has many millions of dollars, declares that the present price of meat is too dear for her, and she cut it out of her luncheon order.

Mrs. Green entered a modest restaurant and scanned the bill of fare. Steak she found at fifty cents a portion and roast lamb and roast beef at thirty-five cents. Mrs. Green took halibut, which was fifteen cents a portion.

"Have you joined the boycott?" asked the waiter.

"No," said Mrs. Green, dubiously, "but meat is too high. You don't get your money's worth. People really can't afford to eat it. There are other things just as good and cheaper."

There appear to be many persons who agree with Mrs. Green. In response to a lighter demand, the price of meat in the Brooklyn wholesale district has declined 20 per cent, and pork loins slumped sympathetically. As an offset, there are signs that the Western supply will be shut off to hold up the price, although representatives of the packers deny this. Fewer carloads were received.

Two New York young women who made a house-to-house canvass for the National Progressive Woman Suffrage Union obtained nearly 1,000 pledges to abstain from meat for sixty days.

Blue Grass League Talk.

President W. C. Ussery, of the Blue Grass League, has received a letter from Secretary Farrell, of the Board of Arbitration of the National Association, notifying him that disputed base ball games will be easy to settle the coming season. A disputed or protested game hereafter must be brought before the directors of the league and from their decision no appeal will be entertained by the National Board.

This rule is laid down by the National Board, said President Ussery, and will greatly facilitate the disposition of protested games, doing away with the long delay heretofore experienced in prosecuting an appeal to the higher body, and will have tendency to prevent dissatisfaction and loss of interest during the progress of the battle for pennant honors.

President Ussery is of the opinion that a higher class of umpires will be chosen this year and with instructions to enforce their authority during the progress of games, kicking and protesting upon the part of players will be reduced to the minimum.

He is in receipt of the contract signed by William Setley, who will report for duty to Paris upon the opening of the league season on Thursday, May 5. Setley is one of the best umpires in the country, and with Silk O'Laughlin, umpired the games at the close of the 1909 season between the Cuban and Detroit teams in a series of games played in Cuba. Setley is now chief of the Pinkerton staff of detectives of the Jacksonville, Florida, race track.

The two other umpires have been selected and their contracts mailed to them. Their names, however, will not be given out for publication till their contracts are signed and forwarded to the President.

Sheep-Killing Dogs Slaughtered.

Mr. Catesby Woodford had ten pure bred Southdown ewes destroyed by dogs Sunday night at Roesland Stock Farm, near this city. The sheep killed were valued at $150. On Monday night the dogs returned and attacked the sheep, but did succeed as they did the night before. Nightwatchman Earlywine killed eight, Mr. Woodford two and a negro farm hand one. The dogs are said to have come from Brecksville and colored suburbs of Paris.

J. S. Wilson Buys Large Tract of Land.

Mr. J. S. Wilson, of the firm of J. S. Wilson & Bro., of this city, has returned from a hunting trip to Oklahoma, and while there he purchased a tract of land in Mayes county, Oklahoma. The land is all bottom land, 200 acres is timbered, the remainder in cultivation and in grass. Mr. Wilson says he will plant 400 acres of corn and in the fall will seed the land to wheat and in the spring of 1911 plant the remainder to corn, making 800 acres to cultivation. Mr. Wilson has hunted over the farm for several years and says there are now on the premises more than 3,000 quail. He paid from $30 to $35 per acre for the land. Mr. Wilson returned to Oklahoma Tuesday to complete arrangements for the cultivation of the land and will not return home until some time in May.

Government Not Decided.

Assistant Attorney General Wade H. Ellis has reiterated his statement to the Louisville Times recently that the Government has not yet made up its mind in regard to the threatened prosecution of the Burley Society. Ellis' attention was called by several Washington newspaper representatives to interviews in Kentucky newspapers purporting to come from Burley Society representatives, all declaring that there will be no prosecution. Ellis declared that he had not yet seen the reports of the Government secret agents and could not decide until he had read this and then conferred with Attorney General Wickersham. Ellis also reiterated that there will be no more conferences with the Burley Society.

Senate Passes Another Bill.

The Senate passed one more bill Wednesday, that of Senator Wyatt, requiring that the elements of agriculture shall be taught in the common schools of the State. An amendment was adopted providing the manner of selecting the text books for the course prescribed. There was not a vote against the bill.

Catcher Pat Downing Dead.

Pat Downing, recognized in Central Kentucky as the best and most popular catcher in the Blue Grass League, died at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Cincinnati at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday night as the result of a heavy cold contracted ten days ago.

Downing had gone to Cincinnati to look over some promising players in that city for the Lexington club, and while there contracted a severe cold which later developed into pneumonia. Up to two days ago his chances for recovery were thought to be good, but a sudden relapse Tuesday resulted in his death.

Downing played with the Shelbyville baseball team during the early part of last season, later going to Lexington, where he finished the summer out. During the latter part of the season he was made captain of the Lexington team and had already been selected by Manager Tommy Sheets as captain for next year.

At the close of the past season he was selected as catcher for the All-Blue Grass team.

His brother, Jerry Downing, manager of the Postal Telegraph office in Frankfort, and Prof. Geo. P. Downing, assistant principal of the Frankfort high school, with his sisters, were with him in Cincinnati when the end came.

A Sitting Strut.

A prominent New York lawyer went to Georgia to address the Georgia Bar association.

Colonel Peter Meldrum was showing the lawyer around.

"You see that man," said the colonel, pointing out a distinguished person who sat on the hotel porch.

"I do."

"Well, sub, that is a man in whom our state takes great pride. He is Judge —, sub, the only man in Georgia who can strut sitting down."—Saturday Evening Post.

Natural Ventilation.

In cold weather the escape of air from closed, warm rooms through the porosity of walls and the leakage around doors and windows is much greater than is usually supposed. In some experiments by Arthur D. Little of Boston, a room of 615 cubic feet was in the second story of an ordinary clapboarded frame dwelling and the interior walls and ceilings were plastered and papered, the single window made as tight as possible by putty, and the inner door was fitted with weather strips. Even in this room, natural causes made almost two complete changes of air an hour, as shown by tests of the carbolic acid. It would be interesting to know how the rate changes with the differences between outside and inside temperature, and what difference gives an ordinary "tight" family living room safe ventilation.

Plan Clogging Legislation.

Determined, it is said, to make all legislation secondary to the bill looking to an extension of the county unit law, "dry" members of the House are circulating a petition pledging themselves to vote against the passage or consideration of any measure from the Senate until such time as the Senate Committee on Religion and Morals shall have reported the Vice county unit bill and placed it upon its passage. A copy of the petition follows:

"We, the undersigned members of the lower house of the General Assembly of Kentucky hereby bind and pledge ourselves to work and vote against the passage or consideration of any measure coming from the Senate until the county unit bill now in the Senate shall have been called up and placed upon its final passage."

The petition, it is said, has been in circulation since Monday, and about forty House members have signed it. Those back of the petition are reticent about discussing it.

Several of the House members who are favorable to the county unit bill are opposed to what they term the radical step on the part of the circulators of the petition.

"I was sent here not to block the wheels of legislation," said one, "but to vote my sentiments on any measure that might come up. While I am in favor of the county unit bill, and would like to see it pass, there is too much other needed legislation to permit the action of the Senate last Thursday to stand in the way. I think it a mistake to have created the impression that the 'drys' mean to make every other question subservient to their wishes regarding the county unit bill. In my opinion it is going a bit too far to deliberately pledge one's self to tie up all legislation when the State is paying out good money to meet the expense of a legislative session."

Court Reverses Itself.

The Indiana Supreme Court reversed itself and held the gravel road law passed by the last Legislature constitutional, and thereby some $30,000,000 of bonds issued under the law and outstanding in Indiana, Ohio and Eastern States become valid.

Within the Car.

"Fare." The passenger gave no heed. "Fare, please." Still was the passenger oblivious. "By the ejaculatory term 'fare,'" said the conductor. "I imply no reference to the state of the weather, the complexion of the admirable blonde you observe in the contiguous seat, nor even to the quality of service vouchsafed by this philanthropic corporation. I merely allude, in a manner perhaps lacking in delicacy, but not in conciseness, to the monetary obligation set up by your presence in this car, and suggest that without tempering your celerity with enunciation you liquidate."

At this point the passenger emerged from his trance.—Tit-Bits.

Pat Crowe Wants to Find Kellner Child.

Pat Crowe, one of the most notorious bandits and kidnapers of America who in 1900 secured a ransom of $25,000, paid in gold by Edward Cudahy, the Omaha packer, for the return of his son, Edward Cudahy, who had been kidnapped, has been attracted by the kidnapping of Alma Katherine Kellner, and is anxious to work on the case, according to a special telegram from Chicago, where Crowe resides with his family, at 1054 Lawrence Avenue.

Frank Fehr, cousin of Alma, says that he is not wanted in Louisville by the Kellner family, and that if he comes and endeavors to solve the deep mystery involving the girl's disappearance it will not be at the invitation of the relatives. Mr. Fehr says that everything possible is being done to ascertain the child's whereabouts and her restoration but that the case remains without new developments.

Crowe was a fugitive from justice for six years following the kidnapping of Edward Cudahy. He was tried three times for the alleged abduction, but escaped conviction. He was engaged to work on the kidnapping case of Billy Whittle last year at Sharon, Pa., but the child was recovered a few hours before he was to act as the "go-between."

Free from Sin.

Among the many excuses for drinking one of the most convincing is that noted by Lord John Russell in the journal kept of his youthful travels in Spain. When visiting Plasencia he met a convivial ecclesiastic who expressed his astonishment that a scion of the aristocracy noted throughout Europe for their drinking prowess should prove so moderate in his potations. Lord John retorted that he had no desire to reach the six bottle standard set by some of his peers. His boon companion proceeded to rebuke him for his departure from sane tradition and concluded by remarking that "even on religious grounds you are wrong. For he who drinks well sleeps well. He who sleeps well sins not. And he who sins not shall be saved."

What Roads Owe to Salt.

Roads, we are told, owe a great deal to salt. According to one theory, the oldest trade routes came into existence as a result of the traffic in salt. One of the oldest roads in Italy is the "Via Salaria," along which the people of the Sabine country obtained their salt from the salt pans of Ostia. Salt was the main merchandise carried in the trans-Libyan caravans of the days of Herodotus, and salt is one of the chief elements in the trade along the Sahara caravan routes to-day. Salt and salt fish, it is interesting to remember, entered largely into the commerce of the Carthaginians. The latter, by the way, was considered a delicacy in those pre-Christian days.
